

Health Safety Environmental Policy

Noreqs number one Ethic is the Safety, health and well being of its employees, contractors, Customer and the public.

No job is so urgent or critical that it cannot be done in a safe and environmentally responsible manner. Safety will never be comprised.

Noreq will always put HSE in centre of our business activity. Therefore we must ensure that the employees have sufficient knowledge of and proficiency in systematic health, environmental and safety activities.

Noreq will developed attitudes and engagement among all the employees and train all to believe that all injuries and environmental incidents are preventable.

All employees have a duty and responsible to identify dangers and problems and against this background assess risks.

Noreq pushes safety further; we will manage this by continuously evaluate and improve our performance.
